Introduction

This resource book came about because several young people who had lived in parental and foster homes their entire lives realized they were facing life after high school in a nursing facility because of lack of available adult supports in the community and confusion about how to get them.

As a result, P&A brought together staff of several agencies to figure out how to help people find the transition services they needed. The group pooled their knowledge about available programs to put together a resource book that could be used by young people with disabilities in foster care to transition successfully to adulthood.

Although the original purpose of this book was to help kids in foster care, it can be used by young people with disabilities anywhere who are looking at life after high school.

Thanks to the dedicated agency staff who worked on this book together: Representatives from the Division of Protection and Permanency, including the Out of Home Care Branch, Adult Protective Services Branch, Guardianship Branch, and Chaffee Independence Program; the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation; the Kentucky Department of Education; the Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services, including the Brain Injury Services Branch; Chafee Independence Program, and

A special thanks to Reba McDonald, consumer and member of KYSAFF Inc., for sharing her personal experiences and ideas with this group.

Process for transitioning out of the foster care system

Tip Sheet for Youth Transitioning through Foster Care

From Cabinet for Families and Children online Protection and Permanency Manual, SOP 7E.2.8, revised 08/01/03. Formatting and punctuation have been standardized, but the text is the same. Footnotes are commentary and not part of the SOP. The manual in its entirety can be found at manuals.chfs.ky.gov/dcbs_manuals/DPP/index_dpp.asp.

 7. Child is informed they can request to recommit within six (6) months of leaving Children Services
 8. Child can continue with Independent Living Programs (room and board)
 9. Child can still receive tuition waiver

³ This manual does not endorse extending commitment of individuals against their will. Further, although KRS 2.015 indicates that majority for children with disabilities is age 21 for purposes of care and treatment, youth with disabilities are legal adults under other statutes absent a guardianship. For example, education rights go to children at age 18 under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, 707 KAR 1:360, Sec. 10, and under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, 34 CFR 99.31(a)(8) (or at any age that the youth enters a post-secondary institution). Youth may vote at 18, US Const., Amend. 26. Under KRS 2.105, youth with disabilities are adults for such purposes as entering into contracts, getting married, and being criminally prosecuted. For purposes of Social Security benefits, adult re-determinations occur at age 18, 42 USC 1382c(a)(3)(H)(iii).

- a) Worker notifies court two weeks prior of youth's release from commitment
- 10. Notifies youth ten (10) days before aging out that services are to be terminated
- 11. Worker informs youth of Education Training Voucher (ETV) funding
- B. Extends Commitment
 - 1. Client needs to negotiate the terms of the extension agreement between the client and the worker
 - 2. The agreement should include the rights and responsibilities of the youth and the Cabinet with regard to employment, education, housing, finances and communication between youth and Cabinet
 - 3. The agreement should be made part of the court record at the time of extension
 - 4. If appropriate Chafee Independent Living Program services are offered
 - 5. Child is eligible for Tuition Assistance.
- XIII If the child decides to pursue post secondary education the following resources should be considered.
 - A. Federal and State financial assistance should be considered first. (PELL, KEES, CAP, K-TAG)

 - C. Tuition Assistance (for extended commitment only), Cabinet helps pay for books, food, housing, etc.
 - D. Independent Living Programs that provide support services
 - 1. Before completing Tuition Assistance forms all sources of academic income should be considered (Scholarships, KEES, CAP, K-TAG, etc.)
 - 2. Additional income is subtracted from tuition assistance totals
- XIV When the child turns twenty (20) years of age at the first available Case Conference

- A. Services should be put into place that will take care of client's Payee, Case Management, Housing, etc.
 - B. For clients with MR/DD diagnoses that are on the SCL waiting list the search for potential SCL providers should be started
 - C. APS should be invited to familiarize themselves with case and discuss transition of services
 - D. Also, community partners that will provide for the needs of the client should be invited
- XV When the child turns twenty (20) years and six (6) months the following should occur
- A. Worker should send letter to SCL Waiting List Coordinator requesting that child be placed on the emergency waiting list. Along with the written request, the worker needs to submit a complete and updated MAP-620 application to the SCL Waiting List Coordinator. If there are any questions about the client's eligibility for the SCL program, then the worker should include a current psychological.
 - B. If the child receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI) at the time they are initially approved for SCL funding, the worker should immediately contact State Children's Benefits Worker (502-564-3427)
 - C. If child has a need for continued protection the following options for D. Guardianship should be considered:
 - 1. First option should always be any alternatives to Guardianship
 - 2. Second option is general guardianship which should include by order
 - a) Family
 - b) Relatives
 - c) Friends
 - D. State Guardianship is always the last option.
 - 1. Worker contacts local regional guardianship office
 - 2. Worker files the Petition to Determine if Disabled (AOC-740) in Disability Court

3. Worker gets hearing date from Disability Court Clerk (within sixty days)
4. Worker's responsibility to ensure that respondent is evaluated by the interdisciplinary team
5. Interdisciplinary team (IDT) files an evaluation of respondent ten days prior to jury trial
6. Guardianship FSOS or Designee applies for Appointment of Fiduciary (AOC-745)

XVI When the child turns twenty-one (21) years

- A. Complete CQA prior to case closure

- C. SSW develops an Aftercare Plan
- D. All appropriate TWIST fields are completed
- E. Child is informed they are eligible for General Adult Services for one year
- F. Worker informs youth of Education Training Voucher (ETV) funding
- G. Child is notified within ten days of aging out that services are about to be terminated
- H. Court is notified of child's release from commitment two weeks prior to ending commitment

Extended Commitment, KRS 620.140 (1)(d)

Commitment of the child to the custody of the cabinet for placement for an indeterminate period of time not to exceed his attainment of the age eighteen (18). To allow participation in state or federal educational programs or to permit the cabinet to assist the child in establishing independent living arrangements, any person who is or has been committed to the cabinet as dependent, neglected, or abused may request that the court extend or reinstate his commitment up to the age of twenty-one (21). The request shall be made prior to the person's attaining eighteen (18) years and six (6) months of age. Upon receipt of the request and with the concurrence of the cabinet, the court may authorize commitment up to the age of twenty-one (21).

Young adults can ask to extend DCBS commitment to

- Complete high school and continue peer relationships
- Get financial aid for post-secondary education or vocational training
- Continue receiving basic services that they rely on for daily needs
- Live with their foster families until 21
- To keep getting medical services through the State Health Plan and medical card

Extended commitment also provides coordination of agencies, supports and resources for youth with severe mental, physical or emotional disabilities. It gives the agencies involved extra time to work on transitioning services and finding placements in the most integrated community setting.

If a person turns 18 and is going to graduate by age 19, his medical card will continue until that time. If he is not going to graduate from high school, Medicaid coverage will end. If he does not get SSI at age 19, Medicaid coverage stops. However, for young people in extended commitment, Kentucky continues to cover medical expenses until the youth turns 21.

Chafee Independence Program

The Chafee Independence Program helps young people, ages 18 to 21, who are in foster care or who have been in foster care. Its independent living program teaches life skills to live successfully as an adult. Tuition for postsecondary school is available as well as room and board for those no longer in foster care.

How does a referral get started?

Young people, foster parents, DCBS workers and private contractors can make referrals directly to the regional Independent Living Coordinators listed in Appendix A (page 48). Also, see the Transition Flow Chart in Appendix F (page 78).

Foster Youth Transition Assistance

This program provides grants or vouchers to youth aged 18-23 years old who are either currently or formerly in foster care. See the online Protection and Permanency Manual, SOP 7E.5.5, revised 08/01/03, manuals.chfs.ky.gov/dCBS_manuals/dpp/chapters/7/7e%20cps%20ongoing%20oohc.doc.

What are the funds used for?

Funds may be used to pay for transitional assistance into independence.

- Housing
- Clothing
- Transportation
- Tuition
- Medical/dental services and
- Other expenses that CHFS may authorize

How much money is available?

Each fiscal year, CHFS may authorize

- Up to $7500 for working youth and
- Up to an additional $2500 per youth who is attending community college or a 4 year college or university

What kind of post-secondary schools are covered?

Tuition waivers and assistance are available for students attending “a university, college, community college, health technology center, vocational-technical school, technical institute, technical college, technology center, or the Kentucky Community and Technical College System.” KRS 164.001(11).

Supports and Services

Assistive Technology

We all use technology such as phones, radios and computers to help in daily life. Assistive technology is a little different. It refers to devices or services that help individuals with disabilities perform a task or function better than they could without technology.

What AT is right for me?

One way to find out what AT a person needs is to get an AT assessment. The Assistive Technology Resource Centers provide assessments and other services. They also provide lending libraries of equipment and help learning how to use the equipment. You can locate one by calling the Kentucky Assistive Technology Service (KATS) Network.

How can I get an AT loan?

The Kentucky Assistive Technology Loan Corporation (KATLC) offers low interest loans for qualified applicants with disabilities who need assistive technology. Working with its lending partner, Fifth Third Bank of Kentucky, KATLC can provide loans for modified vehicles, hearing aids, adapted computers, mobility devices, augmentative communication devices or any other type of equipment or home modification that will improve the quality of life or increase the independence of Kentuckians with disabilities.

Centers for Independent Living

Centers for Independent Living (CIL) are private, non-profit, community-based agencies largely run by people with disabilities. They provide services that promote independence. Services vary according to agency but usually include information and referral, peer counseling, advocacy, technical assistance on accessibility issues, and instruction on independent living skills. Some CILs have a personal care attendant program. Services are provided to people with all types of disabilities.

Community Mental Health Centers

Community Mental Health Centers provide services to youth and adults in the areas of mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse.

What services are provided?

Services vary from area to area, but basic services include

- case management
- outpatient counseling
- supported employment
- crisis lines
- supported living case management

Some Community Mental Health Centers also offer sheltered workshops for individuals with developmental disabilities, and therapeutic rehabilitation programs for individuals with mental health diagnoses.

How can I learn more?

Contact the Community Mental Health Center in your area listed in Appendix B or visit mhmr.ky.gov/cmhc.

Crisis Stabilization Programs

Crisis stabilization programs provide emergency services to individuals with mental health issues. The programs vary in restrictiveness providing

- crisis assessments (an evaluation of mental and physical health status)
- intensive in-home services
- intensive outpatient services
- crisis therapeutic foster care
- crisis beds in existing residential facilities
- crisis stabilization units

Crisis stabilization units offer short-term stabilization services, usually three to ten days. Most units have six to ten beds. There are separate units for adults and children.

How does a person get services?

The individual must be

- in need of short-term behavior management
- at risk to being placed in a higher level of care
- able to take care of personal needs (if an adult)
- medically able to participate in services
- served in the least restrictive environment within the community

How are services funded?

Services may be paid for with Medicaid, Medicare, private insurance, or private pay.

How can I learn more?

Contact one of the Community Mental Health Centers in Appendix B or call Division of Mental Health and Substance Abuse at (502) 564-4456. You can also visit mhmr.ky.gov/mhsas/Crisis%20Stab%20Prgms.asp?sub1.

General Adult Services

General Adult Services help adults become or stay self-sufficient in the community. These preventative services are voluntary. The adult has the right to refuse the interview, assessment or any services the Cabinet may offer.

Who is eligible?

If you are at least 18 years old and are transitioning out of foster care to adult life, you may be eligible for General Adult Services. You may also be eligible if you are at least 18 years old and were released from commitment within the past 12 months.

What services are available?

- Preventive services
- Counseling
- Transitional services
- Referral or coordination of services, such as arranging transportation

How do I get General Adult Services?

If you are an adult, you can apply for services yourself or you can ask someone else to apply for you. Call the local DCBS office and ask for Adult Protection Services. A social worker will talk to you on the phone and take all your information. Next, the social worker will interview you and submit your application for approval.

How can I learn more?

To find the nearest DCBS office, call (502) 564-6907 or visit https://apps.chfs.ky.gov/Office_Phone/index.aspx.

Hart-Supported Living

Hart-Supported Living (formerly called Kentucky Supported Living) gives grants to individuals with disabilities who apply for funding to pay for equipment and services that will allow them to live and be active in their home communities.

To be eligible to apply, you must have a disability that substantially limits a major life area to apply.

What supports can be requested?

Supports fall into two categories: one-time requests and on-going support. Examples of one-time requests may include purchasing equipment, home modifications, and vehicle modifications. Examples of on-going support may include paying for attendant care, homemaker services, respite, and recreation or leisure activities.

How do I apply?

Call your local Community Mental Health Center to speak with the Hart-Regional Supported Living Coordinator. See Appendix B.

You can also call the State Supported Living Coordinator at (502) 564-7702 or (800) 374-9146, or downloaded the application at <http://mhmr.ky.gov/mr/supportedliving.asp?sub1>.

Applications must be submitted by April 1 each year. Funds become available on July 1. Supported Living is a grant program. There is no entitlement to funds, so it is important to get your application in early.

Home and Community Based Waiver

The Home and Community Based Waiver is a special Medicaid program that pays for extra home health services that regular Medicaid doesn't cover. The purpose of the HCBW program is to help people stay at home rather than go to a nursing home or intermediate care facility. Medicaid will cover HCBW services if a physician orders them and a home health agency participating in the HCBW program provides them. Not all home health agencies are HCBW providers.

What are the specific requirements?

- You must qualify for Medicaid (the income limits are a little higher for HCBW than regular Medicaid)

- You must have health needs that are serious enough that if services weren't given in the community, you would have to go to a nursing home for skilled nursing care or would have to live in an intermediate care facility
- You must need two services that are not normally covered by Medicaid

What services are covered?

- Assessment
- Case management
- Homemaker services
- Personal care
- Respite
- Adult day health care
- Minor home adaptations

Home repairs are not considered as adaptations.

How do I apply?

Contact a home health agency in your area and ask if it provides HCBW services. You may also wish to speak with your physician or the Department for Community Based Services, Division of Family Support.

Medicaid

Medicaid provides funding for health care services to individuals with disabilities who meet certain income guidelines. Medicaid is also called Passport in some parts of Kentucky.

What are there limits to eligibility?

Eligibility is based upon total household income. The following people are covered:

- Pregnant women
- Dependent children under 19
- Parents are covered if there is a dependent child and at least one parent is unable to work due to disability or illness, has left the family home, or is deceased
- Parents are covered if there is a dependent child and the adult who earned the most money within the past 2 years becomes unemployed

Individuals who draw Supplemental Security Income (SSI) automatically receive Medicaid.

How do I apply?

Visit your local Department for Community Based Services, Division of Family Support office. You can find your local office by calling (502) 564-3703 or visiting https://apps.chfs.ky.gov/Office_Phone/index.aspx.

Medicare

Medicare is a federal health coverage program that has four parts.

- Part A or Hospital Insurance—most people do not have to pay for Part A
- Part B or Medical Insurance—most people pay monthly for Part B
- Part C or Managed Care—people pay monthly for Part C
- Part D or Prescription Coverage—people pay monthly for Part D

What are the eligibility limits?

You must be a citizen or permanent resident of the United States and

- 65 years of age and older or
- Under the age of 65 but have a disability or
- Have end-stage renal disease

An adult disabled before age 22 may be eligible for child's benefits if a parent is deceased or starts receiving retirement or disability benefits. This is called a child's benefit because it is paid on a parent's Social Security earnings record.

How do I apply?

Applications for Medicare are made through local Social Security offices.

Model II Waiver

This Medicaid waiver provides services for those who are dependent on ventilators and would have to live in a nursing facility if they could not get services within the community.

What services are provided?

- Skilled nursing services that are provided by a registered nurse or a licensed practical nurse
- Respiratory therapy

The cost of care in an out of home setting must be less than services would be in an institutional setting or Medicaid won't approve it.

How can I learn more?

For the regulation that governs this waiver, visit www.lrc.ky.gov/kar/907/001/595.htm.

Contact Medicaid by visiting <http://chfs.ky.gov/dms/mwii.htm> or by calling (502) 564-5560.

Personal Care Attendant Program

The Personal Care Attendant Program provides funding to pay for personal care attendants for people with disabilities who need it to live in the community.

What are there limits to acceptance?

- You must be least 18
- Have a permanent or temporary recurring functional loss of two or more limbs
- Need at least 14 hours of attendant care a week (but not more than 40)
- Be able to supervise attendants
- Be able to prepare payroll and employer tax statements

How do I apply?

Call the Division of Aging Services (502) 564-6930 or your local Center for Independent Living (see page 17). Some sites offer this service.

Social Security Disability Insurance

Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) pays disability benefits to individuals who have worked long enough and paid Social Security taxes. Disabled children of SSDI may be eligible for payments, too. SSDI pays benefits to adult children who have a disability that began before they were 22 years old.

How do I apply?

Special Services and Equipment Fund

The Special Services and Equipment Fund gives money for services or equipment to people with a developmental disability who meet income guidelines.

How do I apply?

Applications are made through local Community Mental Health Centers (CMHC). See Appendix B. The CMHCs can also help you write your application.

Supplemental Security Income

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a federal income supplement program that pays benefits to meet the basic needs of individuals who are 65, are blind or have another disability. Both children and adults may be considered for eligibility.

Do eligible children automatically receive benefits when they turn 18?

When a child turns 18, the Social Security Administration re-determines whether the child still qualifies. Eligibility criteria are different for adults than for children. If the child has an IEP through public school, the Social Security re-determination takes place after the child completes high school (between ages 18-21).

How do I apply?

Call your local Social Security office for an application. You'll need to take along medical and financial documentation, too.

Supports for Community Living

This Medicaid waiver provides services to people to help them live in their homes or in the community rather than in an institution. There is currently a waiting list for Supported Community Living (SCL).

What supports are available?

- Case management, which helps the individual develop and plan for services
- Residential supports
- Adult day activities outside the individual's home at a site or in the community
- Community living supports, which train and help an individual to live in his own or family's home.
- Behavior supports
- Psychological services
- Physical, occupational or speech therapy
- Caregiver respite
- Supported employment, which trains and helps individuals to find and keep a job in the community
- Specialized medical equipment and supplies

You can receive SCL while living in your own homes or with your family. Other options include a

- family home where the individual lives with a care provider.
- staffed residence where no more than 3 people live in a house with 24-hour supervision.
- group home, where no more than 8 people live together with 24-hour supervision.

Who qualifies?

You must need an ICF-MR level of care. Basically, this means that you must need the kind of active treatment services typically provided by a facility whose main purpose is to furnish health and rehabilitative services to people with mental retardation and developmental disabilities. You must also be eligible for Medicaid.

How do I apply?

Call (502) 564-7702 or by visit <http://mhmr.ky.gov/mr/forms.asp?sub70> for an application.

DCBS workers should complete and submit a application for SCL and a written request for emergency SCL funding for youth committed to DCBS prior to the youth turning age 20½.

Who are SCL providers?

You can find services at

Therapeutic Rehabilitation Programs

Therapeutic rehabilitation programs (TRP) are day programs (also called clubhouses) for people with persistent, severe mental health diagnoses. TRPs provide activities to help them live independently in the community.

What services are provided?

Participants help run the clubhouse and organize the activities to learn how to live, learn and work in the community. Funding is from Medicaid and the Division of Mental Health and Substance Abuse. There are over 70 TRP sites in Kentucky.

What is a Social Club Drop-In Center?

These centers help provide opportunities for social acceptance, friendships and leisure activities for adults with several mental illness. There's no stable funding base for drop-in centers, you can only find them in a few counties.

Education

Community Based Work Transition Program

The Community Based Work Transition Program provides a positive beginning in the world of work for students in special education during their last two years of high school. It serves students having a range of abilities who need personalized support exploring potential careers, pursuing challenging work experiences, maintaining employment, and seeking job advancements in their communities. The program provides transition services through instruction, community experiences, employment, and functional vocational evaluation. It is a cooperative effort between participating local school districts, the Kentucky Department of Education, Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, the Kentucky Department for the Blind, and the Human Development Institute at the University of Kentucky.

Healthcare

Commission for Children with Special Health Care Needs

The Commission offers medical diagnosis and treatment to youth with disabilities under age 21. It also works closely with the young people it serves to help them from

- school to work
- pediatric to adult health care
- living at home to independent living

Some Commission clinics offer resource rooms with computer and Internet access, books and software about preparing for college, and information about self care and other related materials.

The Commission and DCBS have partnered to provide nurses to team with DCBS social workers who work with medically fragile children. The nurse and the social worker will conduct monthly home visits together, and the nurse can assist with the child's health plan, education plan, and transition plan.

Living arrangements

Community Housing for Persons Diagnosed with Serious Mental Health Issues

Private pay

Community housing offers transitional and permanent independent living arrangements within the community. The apartments have mental health staff members on site to assist tenants. Apartments are primarily private pay but some have rental assistance.

A list of providers is in Appendix C. You may wish to contact the Division of Mental Health and Substance Abuse's Housing Coordinator for the most current listing (502) 564-4456.

Vouchers

The Kentucky Housing Corporation offers "Safe Place," a voucher program to assist persons with mental health diagnoses who are leaving shelters or marginal housing situations. Individuals receive case management through the Community Mental Health Centers and other services through local agencies while being assisted in securing more permanent housing.

Family Care Homes

Family care homes are licensed private homes that provide supervision and personal care services to individuals who need some help with self-care, but who do not require constant medical care or skilled nursing services. Family Care Homes

- supervise self-administration of medications
- store medications
- arrange therapy and medical services
- provide dietary services

- assist the person living there with achieving and maintaining good personal hygiene

No more than 3 people over the age of 18 that are not related to the home operator can live in a family care home.

What are the acceptance criteria?

To live in a family care home, it doesn't matter whether you can walk or not, but if you use a wheel chair you must be able to transfer yourself from your wheel chair to your bed. You must be able to manage most of the activities of daily living, which are the activities that people do every day. These include self-care, communication and socialization.

How are services funded?

Services are funded primarily through private pay.

How can I learn more?

Read the family care home regulations at www.lrc.ky.gov/kar/902/020/041.htm.

To find currently licensed family care homes, visit <http://chfs.ky.gov/oig/directories.htm> and click on the "Family Care Home Directory."

Local DCBS offices may be contacted for additional information about specific local Family Care Homes. To find the nearest DCBS office, call (502) 564-6907 or visit https://apps.chfs.ky.gov/Office_Phone/index.aspx.

Housing Resource Guides

Two excellent resource guides are available through Kentucky Housing Corporation. These include "Assisted Rental Housing in Kentucky" and "Kentucky Rents." For a copy call the Kentucky Housing Corporation at (502) 564-7630 or visit www.kyhousing.org.

Section 8 rental assistance helps low-and very low-income families get decent, safe and sanitary housing in private accommodations. Tenants can take their assistance with them if they decide to move to another approved unit. HUD makes up the difference between what a low- and very low-income household can afford and the approved rent for an adequate housing unit. You can apply for Section 8 assistance through the Kentucky

Housing Corporation in most rural counties (800) 633-8896) or to local public housing authorities in larger urban areas.

Public housing authorities sponsor rent assisted multi-family rental housing in most communities around the Commonwealth. Eligible households generally pay 30% of their income for rent. Rental assistance is tied to the housing unit, instead of tenant based rental assistance which is tied to the family.

"Assisted housing" generally means housing which is designed for low and very-low income households and which is typically rent assisted. Examples of assisted housing include the Farmer's Home Administration (FmHA) Section 515 program, the HUD 202 program for the elderly, the HUD 811 program for persons with disabilities, and the HUD 236 program for the elderly. The Kentucky Housing Corporation publishes a directory of available assisted housing by county.

Intermediate Care Facilities for Individuals with Mental Retardation (ICFs/MR)

ICFs/MR are licensed facilities for individuals who have developmental disabilities and need a nursing facility level of care.

What services are provided?

Individuals are entitled to active treatment and services outlined in their individual support plans. Some of these include

- case management.
- therapy (physical, occupational, speech, and mental health).
- medication administration.
- personal care.
- assistance with activities of daily living.
- recreation and leisure.
- community habilitation.

What is active treatment?

Active treatment is a planned program in which individuals learn fundamental living skills, obtain educational experiences that will be useful in self supporting activities and increase awareness of their environments.

How can I learn more?

For a listing of currently licensed ICFs/MR, visit <http://chfs.ky.gov/oig/directories.htm> and click on “Long Term Care Directory.”

Nursing Facilities

Nursing facilities or nursing homes provide intensive nursing services to individuals who require 24-hour medical supervision.

What services are provided?

Nursing facilities provide intensive supervision, medical and therapeutic services based on an individual’s needs.

What are the limits to acceptance?

You must need on a daily basis high-intensity nursing care services or high-intensity rehabilitation services. Also, services can only be provided on an inpatient basis. If you do not meet these criteria, a nursing facility would not be a good place to live.

How can I learn more?

For the regulation on the nursing facility level of care criteria visit www.lrc.ky.ov/kar.907/001/022.htm and look at Section 4.

For a list of licensed nursing facilities, visit <http://chfs.ky.gov/oig/directories.htm> and click on the “Long-Term Care Directory.”

Personal Care Homes

Personal care homes provide residents

- a room
- meals and dietary services
- housekeeping
- help taking medication
- laundry
- help in keeping good personal hygiene

People who live in personal care homes can also get home health services.

What are there limits to acceptance?

- You must be 16 years old or older
- You must be mobile (either able to walk or able to use a wheelchair)
- You must be able to manage most of the activities of daily living.

What are activities of daily living?

These are activities that people do every day. These include taking care of yourself, communicating and socializing with other people.

How are they funded?

Personal care homes are funded Medicaid, private insurance, and private pay.

How can I learn more?

For the regulations that govern personal care homes, visit www.lrc.ky.gov/kar/902/020/036.htm.

Legal issues

Court Appointed Special Advocates

Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) is an organization that recruits and trains volunteer community members who advocate for children who have been removed from their homes due to abuse or neglect or dependency. The CASA volunteer

- serves as a fact-finder for the judge by thoroughly researching the background of the child’s case.
- speaks on behalf of the child in the courtroom.
- acts as a watchdog for the child during the duration of the case.

The average length of time a CASA volunteer advocates for a child is one to two years. In addition to researching the case record, the volunteer speaks to everyone involved in the child’s life, including family members, teachers, doctors, lawyers, social workers and others.

How do I learn more?

Contact the local CASA organization in your area listed in Appendix C.

Guardianship (and alternatives)

Guardianship is a legal determination by court that an individual is unable to handle her personal affairs. This is different than being incompetent to stand trial on criminal charges.

How does it happen?

Any interested person can file a petition stating that another person is unable to handle her own affairs and needs a guardian. The judge reviews the petition and orders an evaluation. The evaluation team is usually made up of a social worker, a physician and a psychiatrist.

After the evaluation, there is a hearing. The individual is appointed an attorney to represent her. She has the right to be present at the hearing. She also has the right to a trial by jury.

In court, the judge or jury will then decide

- whether the individual needs a guardian
- if there is a need, what level of guardianship the person needs
- a person or agency to act as guardian

What are the levels of guardianship?

In a full guardianship, the person loses all legal rights. The guardian makes all legal and financial decisions.

In a limited guardianship, the individual loses some legal rights. The will decide which rights are taken away. The limited guardian controls only the specific areas determined by the court.

In a conservatorship, the individual retains all rights, except control over finances.

What some alternatives to guardianship?

An individual can give a power of attorney to another person. The individual must say, in writing, what she needs help with and name the person who will help her. For a power of attorney to still work if the individual becomes incapacitated, it must be durable; that is, it must say that it lasts even if the person is no longer able to make decisions for herself.

A representative payee is a person or an agency that the Social Security Administration designates to be in charge of any money it issues to an individual through SSI or SSDI payments.

Another alternative is using checking accounts that require two signatures. Banks can create an account that will require two signatures on each check.

Finally, sometimes a person may only need a little extra training to be able to take care of herself. Different service providers train individuals on decision making, and financial planning and responsibility.

Mental Health Advance Directives

A Mental Health Advance Directive is a legal form in which an individual can give specific instructions or preferences about future mental health treatment. It's like a living will for mental health care.

What goes in an Advance Directive?

People can say which medications and treatments they do or do not want if they are in a crisis and cannot communicate for themselves or make voluntary decisions. A person can also designate a trusted person who is allowed to make decisions regarding care if the individual becomes incapacitated.

Does the hospital have to follow these instructions?

“An advance directive for mental health treatment shall be honored in any setting except a hospital emergency room or a hospital emergency department that is required to honor [a living will advance directive, instead].” KRS 202A.422. A copy of the form should be provided to the hospital upon or close after admission.

Employment

Employment Options

Independent, competitive or non-supported employment is full or part time work that you obtain on your own or with the help of an employment specialist. It is work that you can keep without the aid of ongoing supports. Jobs are in typical community businesses and wages are at or above the minimum wage.

Supported employment offers customized job supports to help you decide what job is best for you, get the job, learn the job, and keep the job. Career supports are also included. All jobs are in the community, in integrated settings where people with and without disabilities work, and where wages are at or above minimum wage. Ongoing supports make this kind of employment helpful to people with severe disabilities.

Sheltered employment is work that is performed in a controlled environment, where people with disabilities work together in a non-integrated setting, and where wages are generally below the minimum wage based on work performance. Sometimes sheltered workshops provide training that leads to supported employment or independent employment.

Self-employment or small business enterprises are when you are in business for yourself. Or you might carry on a trade or business as a sole proprietor or and independent contractor. If you do any of these things, you would consider yourself to be self-employed. If this is something you would like to consider, the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation might be able to assist you in exploring self-employment options, based on eligibility. See page 41.

Job Corps

Job Corps is a US Department of Labor program. It offers education and vocational training for youth aged 16-24 who meet income guidelines. Students may receive their high school diploma or GED through the program.

Students may choose among 100 different training areas. Not all sites provide all disability-related training programs, however.

How do I get started?

Vocational Rehabilitation

Vocational Rehabilitation services help people go to work. They are provided through the Kentucky Office of Vocational Rehabilitation (OVR) or the Kentucky Office for the Blind (OFB). Both agencies offer a wide range of services to help people with disabilities go to work.

An eligibility process is used to determine if you will qualify for services. This is based on federal and state guidelines for eligibility.

Services that you might be eligible for include:

- Tuition for various training programs, including college, skills specific, voc-tech, and other
- Rehab technology
- Supported employment services
- Job selection, career planning, and placement services
- Exploration of self-employment goals
- Independent living services

OFB helps people with vision impairments. OVR helps with other disabilities. If you have a vision impairment and another disability, OFB and OVR will work together to decide how to help you best. Sometimes, both agencies will work with you.

How do I apply?

You must be old enough to work by the time you complete rehabilitation services. Both OVR and OVB will work with your public school to provide School-to-Work Transition Services.

To qualify, you must answer yes to these questions.

- Do you have a physical, mental or visual disability?
- Does your disability affect your ability to get or keep a job?
- Do you need rehabilitation services in order to get or keep a job?

To see if you are eligible, contact a local office OVR or OVB office. Counselors can meet with you in any county. There is no waiting list for services.

Carl D. Perkins Vocational Training Center

Located in Thelma, the Perkins Center trains people for employment and independence. Students may live on or off campus. Services include physical, occupational and speech therapies; vocational evaluation; and attendant care. Classes cover a variety of areas including child care, maintenance, cosmetology, and printing/publishing. Residential students can attend classes through the Kentucky Community and Technical College Systems Paintsville and Prestonsburg campuses. For more information contact your local OVR office or call (606) 788-7080 or (800) 443-2187.
